FALLS FROM ROOF AND IS INJURED

William Gilson, 63 Years Old, is Confined to His Bed With Flesh Wound and Bruises.

FEAR SERIOUS RESULTS

Members of Family Believe he Was Walking in Sleep When he Toppled Off Perch.

William Gilson, living at 504 West Second street, walked off the roof of the back porch at his home last night about nine o'clock and fell a distance of about twelve feet to the ground, alighting on his head. He has been confined to his bed all day, complaining of a sore side and has not yet called a physician. One of his wrists is badly swollen and may be broken and a deep flesh wound was made in his forehead when his head struck the ground. Mr. Gilson seems dazed and is not certain just how he got out of his room and on the porch. His relatives believe that he was walking in his sleep when the accident happened. Mr. Gilson is sixty-three years old and his immediate relatives are greatly worried over his condition, fearing that the injuries may bring serious results.

Mr. Gilson went down town last evening after supper and returned home about eight o'clock in excellent spirits. About eight-thirty o'clock he went to bed, after reading the evening paper and the members of his family knew nothing of the happenings until they heard someone walking around the house, groaning as if he were in great pain. Soon someone pounded the door and Mr. Gilson's daughter opened the door to find him standing there.

They took him in the house and cared for him as best they could. He complained of being hurt about the head and in the side. He was bathed with liniment and put to bed to await developments this morning. Today he is little better and has not attempted to leave his bed. He still complains of pains in his side, wrist and head. He suffered a badly wrenched side several months ago and it is believed that the same old injury was brought up by the shaking which he received in the fall. Members of the family fear that he may have a broken rib or internal injuries and have been attempting to persuade him to call a physician. His wrist is badly swollen and they fear that the bone may be broken. He suffers severe pains in his head, caused by the severe flesh wound.

Members of the family are at a loss to know how he happened to fall from the kitchen roof. They believe that he was walking in his sleep and toppled off. He was in a dazed condition when they found him at the front door and he is yet unable to explain how he happened to fall.

WOULD REDUCE BASS CATCH

Commissioner Thinks 36 Fish Too Much For Two Men.

George W. Miles, State fish and game commissioner, favors a change in the present law regulating the number of bass two men may catch in one day. The present law permits them to catch thirty-six fish, and Mr. Miles would have the number reduced to eighteen or twenty.

TO PLAY IN CONNERSVILLE

Local Boys Will Clash With Football Team There.

A football eleven, composed mostly of students at the Eighth street school, journeyed to Rushville last Saturday, and defeated a school boys team of that city by a score of 6 to 0, says the Connersville News. The Rushville lads were much larger physically than their opponents, but the Connersville youngsters struggled gamely and pushed and soved their way to a well earned victory. The teams will play a return game in this city November 6.

DISMISS SCHOOL; GATHER POTATOES

Prif. L. A. Hufford of Westville, Visiting in Rush County, Says the Children Go Into Fields.

WORK DURING TUBER HARVEST

Prof. L. A. Hufford, who is visiting friends in this vicinity, and Rush county, has dismissed his school in Westville, Ind., of which he is superintendent, for the potato harvest, says the Greenfield Reporter.

This section and other sections of Laporte county, abounds in great potato fields, and the scarcity of hands, makes it necessary to dismiss the schools, so the pupils can be employed in gathering up the big tubers behind the diggers. The crop is gathered in bushel boxes and great train loads are shipped to Chicago and to other points. They are averaging 200 bushels to the acre.

The children make from $1.00 to $2.00 per day and the crop is harvested in three or four weeks. School does not dismiss but a week, however. Hundreds of men, women and children can be seen busily engaged in the fields on any pretty day.

BIG MEETING AT MAYS STATION

John Kiplinger and A. E. Martin Addressed the Citizens of Center Township Last Night.

A LARGE CROWD ATTENDS

Were Greeted by Audience That Filled Large School House—Enthusiasm Was Rampant.

Standing room only was the sign which greeted John Kiplinger and A. E. Martin last night at Mays. It was one of those old-fashioned meetings, with the band playing and everyone full of enthusiasm. The meeting was very gratifying to the Republican leaders.

Messrs. Kiplinger and Martin made the principal addresses of the evening and held the large audience to the closest attention all through their discourses. The various candidates for county offices who were present were brought forward and all made short talks. The meeting was held in the school house and the Lewisville band furnished the music for the occasion.

Mr. Kiplinger, the first speaker, discussed at length the tariff. He said the Republican party has always stood for protection and as a result of this protection the farmer of today gets more for his produce and labor than ever before. The farmer of today is better off than he ever was. Mr. Kiplinger gave some very interesting figures to prove his assertions. He heartily endorsed Senator Beveridge as a fearless, honest man and urged his return to the Senate. He also urged the re-election of Congressman Barnard and gave the county ticket his heartiest approval.

A. E. Martin, a former Rushville citizen, but now of South Bend, followed Mr. Kiplinger. Mr. Martin said the Republican party stands for the protective principle, sound currency and the spirit of nationalism, while the opposition changes issues every campaign.

For fifty years the Republican party has led the nation on its upward march of progress until today it stands the greatest nation on the globe. He discussed at some length the corporation tax of one per cent on all net incomes over $5,000. This brings in a revenue of $25,000,000 annually. The speaker praised the first sixteen months of Taft's administration as showing wise, sane and prudent legislation. Mr. Martin showed where the Democrats were wrong on free silver, anti-imperialism, anti-militarism and free trade. In the discussion of free trade he said that from 1894 to 1897 prices were cheaper, but the people did not have the money. Today the prices are higher and the people have the money, which is due to a protective tariff.

In discussing the high cost of living, the speaker said many elements entered into this. First the ever increasing population. Then again the arrival of emigrants into this country who did not produce, but did consume. One thing responsible for the high cost of living is that the demand exceeds the supply. Men from the country are constantly going to the cities, reducing the number of farm laborers and creating a larger demand for food produce.

Mr. Martin asked for a Republican legislature in 1911, when two great questions will be decided. The first is the election of a United States senator and the second is the passing of a fair and equitable re-apportionment law which will be constitutional.

The speaker pleaded for the election of the entire congressional, judicial and county ticket, as all the candidates are honest, intelligent, capable and efficient men, who will fill the offices to the credit of themselves and county.

The candidates present who made short talks were Nathan Weeks, Clata Bebout, Charles Brooks, John F. Moses, Thomas J. Humes, John E. Harrison and Peter Hollowell. Center township is Mr. Hollowell's home and he was given a rousing send-off by the residents of his district.

The speakers and politicians from here went to Mays in automobiles, furnished by John A. Titworth and Walter Duke.

MAIL POUCH THEFT IS STILL MYSTERY

Secret Service Man and New Castle Police Force Fail to Locate Any Clues in Case.

ARE MAKING CAREFUL SEARCH

Up to a late hour Tuesday there had been no development in the investigation being made to learn the identity of the mail pouch thief, says the New Castle Courier. A systematic search for the rifled pouch sent to New Castle from Rushville was made on Monday. For three or four hours two men were out looking in the out-of-way places, but not a trace was found. Neither did they locate any more letters, checks, etc.

Although no one knows whether any secret service men are here or not, it is believed that one at least came in early Monday evening. The orders of the secret service men are explicit and they conduct their investigations in a most quiet manner. At times they rely upon local police for assistance, but sometimes they do not even call upon the police.

The local officers are still prosecuting an investigation, but disclaim the knowledge of any clues.

SPENDS BIRTHDAY ON THE PLATFORM

Congressman Barnard Celebrates His Fifty-Eighth Anniversary in a Strenuous Speaking Campaign

HE WAS IN HIS "HOME TOWN"

is a Native of State as Well as District—Was Born in Liberty, Union County.

William O. Barnard, representative of the Sixth district in the national congress, is 58 years old, celebrating the 58th anniversary of his birth on Tuesday, October 25, says the New Castle Times. The day was not celebrated in any pleasurable way by the congressman, as it was crowded with political speeches in the interest of his candidacy for a second term in congress. At noon Mr. Barnard spoke to the employees of the Maxwell Briscoe factory and in the afternoon and evening to the voters of Mooreland, Messick and Blountsville.

Congressman Barnard is not only a native of Indiana, but also of the Sixth district, which he at the present time represents in congress and seeks again to represent. He was born at Liberty, Indiana, October 25, 1852, and when two years of age moved with his parents to Dublin, a noted place in the underground railway system during the Civil war. The family in 1856 moved to Fayette county, locating near Connersville, and it will be seen that the congressman has resided at several places in the district.

In 1866 the Barnard family came to Henry county, locating in Liberty township, east of New Castle, and here the future congressman grew to manhood. After leaving school he became an educator, then a lawyer, served his county as prosecuting attorney, then as circuit judge and finally secured the high honor of election to congress. Congressman Barnard received hearty congratulations from those who were aware of the fact that he was commencing another mile in the journey of life.

mailed to the office or left at the office as those telephoned, in will not be counted in awarding the prize. Each person can make only one guess according to the conditions of the contest. It is best to make your estimate at once as the announcement of the population may come from Washington, D. C., at any time.

The Daily Republican has made application at Washington to receive the correct number of people in Rushville by telegraph just as soon as the official count is made. When the population number is received the prizes will be awarded at once and all of the estimates, which have been received, will be published.

There is naturally much interest in the population of Rushville as local residents are anxious to know whether it has increased or decreased. It might be good advice to take, not to make your guesses too high so there will be no danger of a great disappointment. Columbus is a fair example of a disappointed city. There, the newspapers, as well as residents, have been placing the population away above the actual number and when they learned they were sadly mistaken, they employed the next best means, applied for a re-count.

Make your guess today as the announcement of the real number may come from Washington at any time.

Causes of Chronic Disease A Matter of Opinion Only

Our readers will undoubtedly be interested in a statement made by Dr. J. H. Kellogg of Michigan, the superintendent of a large sanitarium, when he went to the national capital to speak before a committee of the house of representatives in behalf of a bill to establish in Washington a national department of health. This proposed department is to do for people what the national department of agriculture is now doing for plants and animals—saving their lives from disease.

Dr. Kellogg's remarks touched a phase of the question which will strike home to almost every man and woman in the United States. He said: "While there has been a wonderful decrease in mortality from acute diseases, there has been an enormous increase in mortality from chronic diseases. Mr. Rittenhouse, the president of the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society of New York, has shown by a study of the statistics gathered by the census bureau and of statistics gathered by the life insurance associations that the mortality from heart disease, kidney disease, disease of the blood vessels and apoplexy have, taking the increase in population into consideration, increased 100 per cent."

Dr. Kellogg was asked by Congressman Barlett:

"Is it not the increase in those particular diseases traceable to the habits of life of the people?"

Dr. Kellogg replied: "I do not know. I am very anxious we should have a national department of health so that we may find out."

Mr. Bartlett—"Have you no opinion about it?"

Dr. Kellogg—"Yes, sir; I have a very decided opinion that this increase is probably due to wrong habits of life, but I hesitate about answering your question because I can give only an opinion."

"Now, we have a vast number of opinions as to the causes of this increase in chronic diseases; we have a multitude of voices crying one thing and another, but what we want is to have the question settled on scientific grounds. We want to know.

"An acute disease is generally due to accident, but chronic disease is a matter of culture. We nurse our chronic disease; we encourage them unconsciously day by day. We are exposing ourselves to some condition which is unhealthy, and by and by the symptoms break out, and when the symptoms do appear the mischief is done, and nothing can remedy it. The symptoms by which Bright's disease is generally recognized do not indicate the beginning of this malady, but the end of it. When a man goes to a doctor and the doctor finds he has albumen and casts, the man is nearly dead; his hopes for a long life are absolutely blasted; he has been having Bright's disease for ten or fifteen years perhaps and did not know it. It is just like a fire that started in the cellar of a house, has burned its way up through the partitions until it breaks out through the roof. Then everybody knows the house is on fire, while before the fact was not known. Now, an acute disease is like a fire inside the house when a lamp explodes. The fire soon burns out and the house itself is little damaged. But chronic disease may be likened to the house itself on fire. These causes of chronic diseases are exceedingly insidious; they are subtle; they are obscure; they are not generally known or recognized. It is highly important that they should be thoroughly investigated.

"The cause of acute disorders are pretty thoroughly known, and the methods of prevention are comparatively easy of application through public health legislation and police regulation. But the causes of chronic diseases are not so well known. A dense cloud of mystery still conceals the origin of cancer, diabetes and to a great extent of all chronic maladies.

"It is manifestly a matter of tremendous importance that there should be a thoroughgoing scientific investigation of the relation of habits to health. This is a work which can be accomplished only by a large body of experts provided with all the appliances and resources afforded by modern science.

"It is a work which can be accomplished speedily and effectually by a body saving federal authority and prestige. The state puts out a red flag as a warning against smallpox, but leaves the citizens to walk straight into the jaws of other monsters of disease—cancer, nephritis, diabetes, heart disease and arteriosclerosis. Is it not the duty of the state and the national government to bring to bear all the resources of modern science to aid in the settlement of those vital questions pertaining to the causes of chronic diseases?

"The work that has been done by the department of agriculture in relation to the feeding and care of live stock has produced prodigious results, by which the whole country has profited. Similar work in regard to human beings should be conducted until it is possible for the mother who is rearing a future president to be taught with the same definiteness and assurance how to feed and care for the budding genius as the student in an agricultural college is now taught how to feed pigs and cows."

Cattle Breeders Will Meet

The fourth regular fall meeting of the Indiana Cattle Feeders Association has been called by president DePuy to meet on the 19th of November at LaFayette, Ind. On account of the increased interest being taken in the most recent knowledge on cattle feeding and the great success of the former meetings held, this meeting promises to be the most largely attended of any fall session yet held.

The Purdue Experiment Station has on grass 80 choice fleshy feeders that will be placed on feed with different rations. These cattle will be finished for the annual spring meeting of the convention thus giving the members of the association the opportunity to see the cattle when placed on feed and when finished by different methods of fattening. No better object lesson could be found than this practical demonstration of the variation in the rate and cost of gains and the finish secured from different feeds.

The program will consist not only of the valuation of the cattle and a talk on the markets by commission men but also addresses by one or more men prominent in the meat producing circles of the country. The cattle feeding at the station will be reviewed and the plans for the feeding experiments this winter discussed. It is also hoped that a plan will be adopted whereby the members of the association will make annual reports on their feeding operations thus giving each member the benefit of the experience of the other members.

Every cattle feeder or person otherwise interested in the subject is cordially invited to attend.

CLIMBED INTO A SNOW STORM

But He Emerged From It With New Height Record.

RALPH JOHNSTONE'S FINE FEAT

By Soaring Aloft Until His Barograph Registered 7,303 Feet, Johnstone Exceeded the American Record Made the Day Before by Drexel, Though He Had to Flounder Through Frozen Clouds to Do It.

New York, Oct. 26.—Ralph Johnstone, at the international aviation tournament at Belmont Park, climbed until a snowstorm at a height of 7,303 feet compelled him to coast back to earth, but his climb was satisfactory to young Mr. Johnstone, in that it established a new American altitude record. On the previous day J. Armstrong Drexel had taken the American altitude record of 6,175 feet away from the Wright machines, but it is back again. If it had not been for a rainstorm on high, Arch Hoxsey might have remained in the sky longer than he did and may even have flown higher than the 5,795 feet he reached, but when the rainstorm came along the Berry Wall of aviation took a running jump above the rainstorm, as he had just had his clothes pressed. And above this rainstorm was still another, and so, while he was loafing in circles up around a mile or more without an umbrella in sight, one stormy day after another came along. In the middle of it all, the altitude hour came to an end and Hoxsey came back to where his valet awaited him. But Johnstone here took a mean advantage of his friend and aviation schoolmate. Johnstone kept going right on up. For a long time the stands lost sight of him as miles away to the southeast he circled about. Then he came down, looked to where his barograph should have been and suddenly remembered that he had forgotten to attach a barograph to his machine. That was the time that the Wright camp received Johnstone with so much pleasure. When Wilbur Wright learned of the lack of a barograph and the consequent futility of the flight, he conversed gently but earnestly with his pupil for a few moments. And as a punishment Mr. Johnstone was told that just for that he must go right back and break the American record before dinner.

Passing in front of Hoxsey, Mr. Johnstone climbed into his machine. Greasy looking clouds now were rolling in from the Jersey factories, where clouds and rain are made, but the wind was lessening a bit as Johnstone started toward them, and then he started up in long spirals and continued to go up. As he climbed the big Antoinette that Latham flies for France started aloft also. But Johnstone had a start on the climbers below him, and in a very little while he had all the sky between Jamaica, Long Island, and Jamaica, West Indies, quite to himself—the high spots, anyway.

The spatter of rain that hit upturned faces as the crowd looked up and southwest toward the Johnstone speck got to Johnstone before it drove the crowd to cover. At first it was just a fine drizzle up where he sailed, hardly thick enough to conceal him entirely from the watchers below. But as he got up toward his record mark the rain changed to wet snow on his goggles.

Then the snow began to freeze in a crust on the goggles and he had to watch for a steady moment to pull them off. By this time the wind and cold and sleep and snow almost a mile and a half above the real estate, had left him blinded and numb and the storm was not helping his engines. The engines still were working, but Johnstone's muscles were approaching the quitting hour. If the muscles give out the aeroplane falls, and it is no help to fall into a snowbank if the snowbank is a mile and a half in the air.

He started finally toward the earth and slid into weather that blotted him entirely from view. Ever and again the speck sliding earthward would swim vaguely into view, working all the time into the lower sky of the northeast. At a height of about 4,000 feet and to the east of the aviation field, Johnstone dove out of a mist bank with his engine throttled down, and he finished his flight with a long volplane dive to a spot a few feet from his starting point. DeLesseps earlier had tried for altitude in his Blériot, but at a height of 6,391 feet he began to lose his bearings in the fog and dropped while the dropping was good. The day was free from accidents of any kind.

HISSED THE KAISER

Royal Visit to Brussels Not Without Embarrassing Incident.

Brussels, Oct. 26.—Emperor William and the Empress Augusta Victoria arrived here yesterday afternoon on a visit to King Albert and Queen Elizabeth. Their reception on the whole was cordial and courteous by the people in the street, but several persons were arrested for hissing. The Kaiser and party were met at the railway station by King Albert and Queen Elizabeth and drove through streets lined with 10,000 troops.

NICARAGUANS TAKEN IN BY ANCIENT BILLS

Confederate Money Worked Off On the Unsuspecting.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 26.—That Nicaragua has been flooded with counterfeit money is the report received here by merchants doing business there. They say that this was done during the recent revolution by American soldiers of fortune, who offered their services to the two contending factions. It appears that they went liberally supplied with Confederate notes, which were passed upon the unsuspecting Nicaraguan acendados as genuine American gold bills. It is stated that the frauds have reached thousands of dollars and that the bills have been spread through Honduras and parts of Guatemala as well.

The report of the circulation of Confederate money came out in the discussion of the reported sensation at Chicago and the confession of Secrest, who is alleged to be leader in the alleged conspiracy. A Central American leader ridiculed the idea of Madriz and his followers realizing on Nicaraguan bills. He said: "If General Madriz and his friends had taken $15,000,000 from Nicaragua when they fled, they would not have realized $15 on them in any reputable exchange. The whole world knew that Nicaragua was in a state of war, and even before the Madriz government failed, the currency had depreciated until it was almost worthless."

HE WASN'T DEAD

Illinois Coroner Astonished When His Subject Revived.

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 26.—Prepared to hold the inquest with the jury assembled, Coroner T. C. Buxton of Macon county was astounded to discover that the supposedly dead body before him still retained some life.

It was the so-called corpse of John Nein, a wealthy farmer, living near Oreana, Ill. Nein had been here on a business trip and suffered a sudden attack of acute indigestion while taking in a lecture by a street vender on one of the downtown squares. He turned deadly white and was apparently lifeless when carried into a nearby drug store.

Coroner Buxton was called. He proceeded to examine the body, when he noticed the man's heart beating very feebly. He applied restoratives and revived Nein, so as to extend him an invitation to come to his home for the noon meal. The invitation was accepted, and the coroner within two hours found himself the host to the victim upon whom he had prepared to hold an inquest.

France Expels Dawson.

Paris, Oct. 26.—The ministry of the interior has issued a decree expelling from France forever Warrington Dawson, an American newspaper man, who reported the Roosevelt expedition in Africa, on the ground that he transmitted mendacious news concerning the railway strike. Ambassador Bacon is trying to straighten the matter out.

Ethel Le Neve Acquitted.

London, Oct. 26.—After a trial lasting only a few hours a jury found Ethel Clara Le Neve not guilty as an accessory after the fact in the murder of Cora Belle Crippen, for whose death her husband, Dr. Crippen, will die on the gallows on Nov. 8. The jury was out just nineteen minutes.

Women's Clubs Gaining.

PROPOSED SITE FOR STATE MALL

Indiana Capitol Grounds to Be Extended.

IF PRESENT PLAN WORKS OUT

Necessity of Further Buildings to Relieve the Congested Condition at State House Combines Nicely With Proposal to Enlarge the Grounds and Hold Them For Such Additions as the Future May Require.

Indianapolis, Oct. 26.—Members of the Indianapolis park board, with Governor Marshall and Demarchus C. Brown, state librarian, looked over the ground from the statehouse west to White river, which it has been proposed to turn into a mall, or city and state park. The plan was suggested to the park board several months ago, but not until now has any inspection of the ground been made. The proposed plan provides for the purchase of the property a half block on each side of Market street to the river, the removal of all buildings and the construction of driveways, grass plots, etc. It also provides for the construction, along the proposed mall, of any additional buildings that may be necessary for the purpose of relieving congested conditions at the statehouse.

Mr. Brown is interested in the proposal because he is seeking to have the state erect a separate building for the library and for scientific purposes. The governor recently said that since the state will probably commemorate in 1916 the 100th anniversary of its admission to the Union, the next general assembly should take the first step. He suggested at that time that whatever money is to be spent for the purpose be used for permanent buildings.

The governor declined officially to approve the proposed mall. He told the members of the park board, however, that the improvement as planned would be fine for both the city and the state.

DOWN ON MASHERS

If You Knock One Down in Ft. Wayne Court Will Applaud You.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 26.—The man who knocks down a "masher" in the streets of Fort Wayne is certain of acquittal in the city court, according to the declaration of Judge J. Frank Mungovan from the bench, and the statement was applauded by the police who were in the room at the time.

The court strongly denounced a number of young men who were charged with insulting women on the crowded streets Saturday evening. "This thing of insulting women and crowding and jostling people who are moving along attending to their own affairs has got to stop," declared Judge Mungovan, in acquitting Charles Waters, who was charged with knocking Red Morrissey through the display window of a shoe store, "and I will acquit any respectable man who will knock down the fellows who are guilty of this sort of thing."

WANTS $50,000

Prof. Peck Has Sued President Butler on Slander Charge.

New York, Oct. 25.—The first person to greet Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, as he touched Manhattan soil last night, after an European trip of some months, was a process server employed by Harry Thurston Peck, the ousted Columbia anthro professor. President Butler was handed a summons to appear in a suit for $50,000 damages brought against him by his old professor. Mr. Peck's lawyers say that the suit is for slander against the Latin teacher, alleged to have been uttered by President Butler after the letters of Esther Quinn, the stenographer who is suing the professor for breach of promise, were given publicity last spring. No complaint accompanied the summons.

SHIVELY LAID UP

The Senator's Condition Takes a Turn For the Worse.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 26.—The condition of Senator B. F. Shively, who is confined to his home here with a disabled foot, has taken a turn for the worse and an operation will likely be necessary. Cantrane has not set in, as has been stated, but it will be necessary to operate to remove a piece of dead bone from the patient's toe, according to the senator's physician, who says it is not likely that Mr. Shively will be able to enter the campaign again this fall.

Held on Suspicion.

Columbus, Ind., Oct. 26.—Walter Donnell, aged twenty-three, is being held on a charge of arson, following the destruction of a big barn on the W. T. Newsum farm. Donnell asserts his innocence. He rode by on a bicycle while the barn was burning, and some of the members of the Horse Thief Detective association, who were fighting the fire, thought the young man acted in a suspicious manner, and after questioning him decided to take him into custody.

The prosperity of a town is not judged by the wealth of its inhabitants, but by the uniformity with which they pull together when any important undertaking is to be accomplished. A man with a thousand dollars at his command and a love for his town in his heart can do more for the upbuilding of it than the millionaire who looks up his capital and snaps his fingers at home progress.

Election day is only two weeks off. On the surface it appears that the usual interest ordinarily manifest during the last two weeks before election, is lacking. Yet everybody should be interested in the outcome of the battle of the outcome of the battle of the ballots. The voter should be fully informed of the important issues which are presented this campaign. He should remember that under the Republican administrations the country has enjoyed the greatest prosperity of its history and to place another party in power would mean that new business principles would be instituted, which would very likely result in nothing short of a panic. Business firms would necessarily be required to wait for the result of the change, and would defer the completion of contemplated improvements for the enlargement of their plants. Smaller firms would place more conservative orders with the manufacturers as they would fear the change, and this in turn would affect the employees of the great manufacturing enterprises.

The Democrats advocate a change in the tariff laws which amount to free trade. The effect of such a radical revision would be felt by the farmer who is today receiving excellent prices for his produce. Under the Republican control the farmers have received prices for their produce which make agriculture profitable. They know what the result would be if the Democrats were in power as they well remember the hardships they experienced in 1894. Yet the Democrats come before the voters and present the same argument as they did at that time. The country has prospered and grown, and with it the Republican party has grown so that it could meet with success the many changes. The Democrats believe in the same principles in which they placed their faith twenty years ago, and their policies are too narrow to meet the advancement which has been so marked. The Republicans believe in progress and will work for the benefit of the people. All of these things should be kept in memory on November 8th so that the candidates will be elected who will work for conservative legislation and continued prosperity.

The Birthday Invitation

Dolplane Swan of Anderson township, a six-year-old child, has submitted the following original poem which is explanatory.

INVITATION
On the twenty-fourth of October
Will you be found with smiles all over,

At Mildred's party just at two,
Be sure and come and get a view.

REPLY.
To Mildred Booth's party
I surely must go.
Even the thought of it
Tickles me so.
The day and the hour
Will find me there
For my dear little cousin,
There's none to compare.

Your birthdays are not many;
They number but four.
Before you are married
They will number some more.
Whether sooner or later,
Be it many or few,
I will surely come Monday
To get a good view.

The marriage of Miss Nellie Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Hunt, and A. A. Lease was celebrated this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the North Park Christian church in Indianapolis. Mrs. Samuel E. Brown of Indianapolis gave a dinner and shower Monday evening in honor of Miss Hunt. The guests were the members of an afternoon club. The decorations were carried out in the bridal colors of green and white. Mr. Hunt is a brother of G. P. Hunt, the hardware merchant, and visits this city often. G. P. Hunt went to Indianapolis this morning to attend the wedding.

HANDS ARE LACERATED

John Colvin is Injured in Accident at Case Mill.

John Colvin, a fourteen-year-old boy of North Sexton street, was badly injured at the Case mill yesterday afternoon, when both of his hands were drawn into a sander. They were lacerated and torn, but a careful examination by a physician failed to locate any broken bones. It is believed that nothing serious will result unless blood poisoning develops. It will not be necessary to amputate the members.

AMUSEMENTS

The Star Grand offers two Biograph comedy pictures tonight. The first subject is entitled "A Gold Necklace." This is a delightful comedy of errors, in which a gold necklace figures prominently. The second subject is entitled "How Hubby Got a Raise." Leave it to wifey, she'll fix things for you; and hubby left it to wifey, but instead of a raise he got his discharge; wifey collapsed, Earl Robertson will sing "Back to the Bleachers For Mine."

The Palace offers for tonight a Kalem film, "The Heart of Edna Leslie." It is a society drama of modern times. Edna Leslie has become betrothed to Baron Hayman, an attaché of the Austrian embassy, more in response to the call of ambition than to any real emotion of the heart. But she honestly intends to marry the baron until at a house party when she happens to meet Peyton Carter, a young Virginian. Here a real love affair starts almost at sight. The production is put on amid beautiful surroundings and the life and personages portrayed are characteristic of the social life in America today. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaudet will have for tonight a Bison film, "Red Fern and the Kid." This is a great western drama showing the life of the cowboys and Indians. A new illustrated song will be sung.

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK TOMORROW NIGHT

Thomas R. Marshall Will Deliver Address at Davis Brothers' New Barn at 7:30 O'clock.

T. M. HONAN WILL ALSO TALK

Governor Thomas R. Marshall will be the star attraction for the Democrats in this campaign, when he will deliver an address at the new Davis Brothers' barn in South Morgan street at seven-thirty o'clock tomorrow night. The local organization expects a big crowd for the political meeting tomorrow night as it has been well advertised. Arrangements are being made to accommodate a large crowd and seats will be provided. The address by the State's executive will be preceded by a brief talk by Thomas M. Honan, of Seymour, speaker of the house of representatives in its last session and Democratic candidate for attorney general. Gov. Marshall has been making a very extensive campaign and his speech here is looked forward to with interest by local politicians.

WILL HOLD ANOTHER SALE

Combination Auction to be Given on Saturday, November 26.

On account of the great popularity of the combination sale held last Saturday in the Davis Brothers' new sale barn and the great success which it had, another sale of a similar character will be given the last Saturday in November, the twenty-sixth. Eight men are behind the project and Dr. Frank H. Davis has been chosen secretary of the organization. All stock owners who contemplate selling are urged to make their entries early.

ITALIANS GO TO WORK

Thirty-Nine Dagos Give Construction Work New Impetus.

The influx of thirty-nine Italian workmen yesterday gave the brick street work a new impetus. They all went to work this morning and cement gutters were built for a square in the business district, while the trenches were made in two other squares. The men are busily engaged laying brick today and that part of the work was completed down to Eighth street.

CHAPTER XIX.

BILL'S STAR.

AL could have laughed aloud as he imagined the old self of a few weeks since—the young and popular officer in the guards self-obeying the beckoning finger of such a man as Jacobus. But he walked toward it like a lamb and was introduced to actors and Mrs. Jacobus (Miss Moon) and Miss de Lisle.

Miss Moon's first sweeping glance at the newcomer was one of self-conscious, important condescension; but, seeing that he was an extremely handsome, well dressed young man, with an air and an appearance widely different from the tenth rate actors of her acquaintance, past and present, her face and manner changed.

She was a big woman of forty-two or three, with the splendid ruin of what had been a fine figure. Beside Miss Moon, Bill's "little gal" looked like a tiny fishing boat bobbing under the lee of a large schooner, but she was a pretty creature whose curly hair was naturally almost as golden as it glittered; gray-blue eyes which ought to have been mischievous and merry, but were anxious; a clear, rather freckled white skin and the piquant nose and innocent smile of a child.

These ladies were not dressed as tidily as their best friends might have wished, but Loveland had grown used to Isidora and did not pick flaws lightly. They were both very cordial to him somewhat—it would have seemed—to Mr. Jacobus' contemptuous annoyance, and then, at Miss Moon's suggestion, Ed Binney introduced Mr. Gordon across and down the length of the table to all the other actors and actresses.

The latter were two in number besides Miss de Lisle and Mrs. Jacobus. Miss Ruby St. Claire, whose mission was to act small parts and play the piano, was of the startled fawn order of young female, evidently not long out of amateurhood, and Mrs. Winter, who had passed the age when it was necessary to preserve her maiden name for programs. She was a reserved and suspicious looking woman, who watched her husband with short, sidelong glances of anxiety either for his conduct or his health. As for him, he was a thin, dejected, gray little man who suffered apparently from a broken heart or a shattered digestion.

The remaining male members of the company were Mrs. Jacobus' two sons, Tom and Bob Eccles. They were between twenty and twenty-five, and like their mother, though one was fat, with the lazy smile of a Buddha, and the other, who through a cast in his

OVERTAXED

Hundreds of Rushville Readers Know What it Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed;
Have too much to do.
They tell about it in many aches and pains—
Backache, sideache, headache.
Early symptoms of kidney ills.
Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.

A Rushville citizen tells here the way to keep the kidneys well.

Mason Maxey, 836 West Third street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy of great merit and I therefore hold them in high esteem. When I procured my first box of Doan's Kidney Pills at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store three years ago, I was badly in need of a remedy that would relieve me of the pain in my back. I found Doan's Kidney Pills to be a reliable preparation for that purpose and by the time I had finished the contents of two boxes, the pain had disappeared. I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills at that time and the elapse of three years has not changed my opinion of them. I willingly confirm all I have said in my original statement."

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for thousands of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. ## GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of its souring quickly. This objection has been overcome and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by Hargrove & Mullin.

eye just missed being handsome, inclined to be truculent. Loveland had intended to take a chair next his roommate, but Miss Moon made a place for him between herself and Buddha—smiling Bob. As everybody except Jack Jacobus and the Winters talked and joked continually, it was surprising how fast they ate. Nearly every one drank large cups of milky coffee with their dinner, and twenty minutes after beginning the meal all had finished with the exception of Loveland, who was not accustomed to giving his food such short shift. He rose with the others, however, and a few moments later the company was straggling in a procession to the theater.

But, after all, it was not a theater, and even courtesy gave it no more high sounding name than "hall." It stood at the end of Main street, its brick front wall plastered with wonderful colored posters representing the most sensational scenes in "the human flower's" repertory. To reach the stage it was necessary to mount a long, mud caked staircase and to pass through the auditorium. As for dressing rooms, they did not exist, for it had been a second thought of some light minded town council to turn the hall into a place where theatrical representations might lawfully be produced, but a space on either side of the stage had been curtained off with sheets, shawls and squares of canvas, ingeniously coaxed to hold together. These screens reached unevenly from twenty-four to twelve inches of the floor, and at worst an actor in dressing himself could be seen no higher than the knees unless, perhaps, a too bright light behind the partition might reveal his whole person en silhouette.

Loveland was anxious to talk with the star about her old friend—if not love—Bill Willing, and he had hoped on starting to walk by her side. But Miss Moon, seeing his desire, had instantly frustrated it by calling him and beginning to talk of the part he was about to rehearse. As old Dave Dreadnought he was supposed to curse her with menaces, and he felt that it would not be difficult to do so realistically even in the character of Loveland, but he contrived to listen politely, if coldly, to the story of her first marriage at the early age of fifteen. "I'm not quite sixteen years older than my eldest son, who is over twenty now," she said and did not look pleased when the juvenile lead found no more tactful comment than an absentminded "Is it possible?"

On the stage he received the short manuscript part of Dave Dreadnought and was allowed to glance it over while the scene of his "dying curse" was being set. He was too inexperienced to remember what in gay, amateur days he had learned of stage directions, and Jacobus was inclined to be sarcastic at his expense, but both Miss Moon and Miss de Lisle, as well as Ed Binney, befriended him. He was called upon also to rehearse the ball scene, where he "walked on" as a young man of fashion and had the privilege of dancing with Miss Moon before dwindling, in the last act, to a mere dead hand. All the "business" had to be repeated again and again until at last he was confident and the stage manager almost hopeful.

At 6 o'clock a meal, which called itself supper, was ready, and, having bolted a cold edition of dinner, eked out with thinned peaches and cups of tea, actors and actresses marched forth in a body to begin the evening's work.

The curtain did not rise until half past 7. But this was Saturday night, and the town was eager for its entertainment. At least a score of persons were seated in the dismal auditorium, munching apples and candy and cracking peanuts, when "the human flower" and her company filed in.

A few little boys on the cheap benches at the back whistled, clapped their hands, stamped on the floor and made "catcalls" as a greeting to the players. But those saluted took no notice and scurried by like hunted things. Miss St. Claire hastened to her seat at the piano, near which an elderly quadron had already begun to tune a fiddle, and melancholy Mr. Winter remained at the door to help the ticket seller until it should be time for him to "make up" as the heroine's millionaire parent.

The gentlemen of the company (Loveland had already learned that they never spoke of each other as mere "men") dressed behind one partition, the ladies behind another, and the crowding could scarcely have been worse in the "black hole" of Calcutta. Nevertheless every one was more or less good natured. Costumes of a sort and odds and ends of grease paints were offered to Loveland, who, to his own surprise, was shaking and perspiring oddly with stage fright.

"What rot!" he roughly scolded himself. "As if an audience in a tenth rate village mattered! What do I care whether or not I know my part or what they think of me?"

But the queer fact remained that he did care, and his heart thumped faster than it had thumped when he was roused one dark night to fight his first battle. He wanted to act well; he wanted to please Lillie de Lisle and to satisfy Ed Binney, who was wishing him luck; he wanted to make a good impression on the pretty bright eyed country girls who had stared at him with interest as he passed through the auditorium.

There were not nearly enough local stage hands employed in the theater, and acting was not the only work the actors had to do. They helped place the scenery and change the settings. They flew about like distracted demons, half dressed, with suspenders flying, turning a burglar's den into a millionaire's dining room, and between the bewildering alterations of scene there was no rest for the sole of any one's foot.

How they ever got themselves out of one costume into another in time, how they ever remembered which of their many doublings came first, which last, Loveland could not conceive; but, standing in the wings waiting for his own dreaded turn, he was filled with an increasing respect for the barnstormers, male and female. They could act, too, most of them, which seemed to him the strangest part of all, for he had not expected to find the satellites of Bill's little star twinkling with the light of talent. As for his own performance, he realized before it had begun that such histrionic efforts as had won him applause when an amateur in London would not be good enough to gain him admiration as a professional in Modunk. It was another thing when, as a handsome young soldier, Lord Loveland had swaggered easily about the stage, pleased with himself and pleasing every one else, because every one had come with the intention of being pleased.

Here in remote little Modunk the audience was evidently far more critical, and if it didn't like what it saw it said so audibly with a voice from the cheap seats or at least indulged in a prolonged fit of bored coughing. If Loveland could have gone on "as himself," as Jacobus had said, he might have captured the fancy of the girls, but as old Dave Dreadnought in a wild wig and moth eaten beard lent by Pa Winter the new addition to the company could conquer the audience only by sheer force of acting.

State Republican Committee.

THE COLONEL JUST LAUGHED AT MR. DIX

Demand For Apology Inspired More Hot Shot.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Every angle of opposition that has yet been brought out by the Republicans in their fight against the Democrats of this state, was set before the people of middle New York by Mr. Roosevelt yesterday. The colonel was on the firing line from morning till night. He hammered away at Mr. Dix, at Tammany Hall, at all sorts of things that appear to be sinister to his followers.
No time was lost by him in answering the statement from Mr. Dix which declared that the Democratic nominee ever had any connection with the wallpaper trust. In replying at length Mr.
Roosevelt reiterated his accusations and uttered scornful remarks as to the fitness of Mr. Dix to occupy the gubernatorial chair. He called him irresponsible and innocent. There were no apologies forthcoming from the colonel; not by a long shot. He laughed at the request from Mr. Dix demanding "as one American citizen from another an apology for this misrepresentation." He was inspired to go at the candidate more ardently even than he has done in the past.

The open letter that Judge Simeon Baldwin, Democratic nominee for governor of Connecticut sent to Roosevelt was answered by the colonel. Mr.
Roosevelt offered no comment on the matter. He did not say anything with regard to the story that Judge Baldwin means to bring suit for libel unless he retracts. In the letter he wrote to Judge Baldwin the colonel says that two or three different versions of what he was alleged to have said appeared in different papers, apparently including two different and distinct sentences, neither reported at length or quite correctly and both combined into one. He concludes as follows:

"If your letter is correctly quoted in the press in this matter, you hold that the acceptance of a very small benefit from the accident insurance company
by a railroad employe would estop him from recovering the substantial amount which he would be entitled to recover from an injury received. I hold that such a view is most emphatically not progressive."

TERSE TELEGRAMS

The international white slave congress is in session at Madrid. Fourteen nations, including the United States, are represented.

gressman and ambassador to Italy,

The strike of the Tampa cigar makers has closed every factory in that place, but it is said the manufacturers intend to fight to a finish the question

The Cuban press is increasingly outspoken regarding the shooting of General Guerra, commander-in-chief of the Cuban army, intimating that it was due to a government plot.

J. H. Demoss, former postmaster of Melbourne, Ky., was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter by a jury at Alexandria, for the killing of Louis Fillhardt, a saloon keeper of Melbourne.

Newspapers claim that the British battleships Indomitable, Invincible and Inflexible, on their trial trips exceeded twenty-eight knots, although the government only admitted that they made 26.8.

ALL CANADA IS ON THE LOOKOUT

International Search For Miss- ing Balloonists.

LOST IN THE WILDERNESS

Word That Hawley and Post Had Been Heard From in the Wilds of Quebec Having Proved Baseless, Search for Missing Aeronauts Has Been Resumed With Renewed Vigor and the Canadian Government Will Assist.

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—The eighth day has passed without news of the landing of the balloon America II, which left St. Louis with Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post aboard trying to win the international race, the report that the aeronauts had alighted in the wilds of Quebec having proved baseless. The reports indicate that the America passed over Lake Huron safely and has probably come down somewhere to the north or northeast in the wilderness, where it is impossible to get in touch with civilization.

The balloon was equipped with four days' provisions and was provided with firearms. Both Hawley and Post are accustomed to roughing it, and should be able to make their way to the construction line of the National Transcontinental railway, to a Hudson Bay company post, or to a lumber or Indian camp, where they could get relief and aid in making their way to some railroad point, though it is pointed out that if the hundreds of lumbermen and rangers in northern Quebec and Ontario had not come across any signs of the America, there seemed to be little chance that Hawley and Post would be heard from. The United States consul general at Ottawa has notified every consul in Canada to cooperate in the search, and Sir Wilfred Laurier has offered to send out a search party just as soon as it could be determined in what district Hawley and Post are likely to be found.
One ray of hope is that at this time of the year the woods are full of hunters.

Captain John Berry of this city, who had charge of the inflating of the balloons, said that Hawley's last words when he started were: "We are good to stay up seventy or eighty hours, and expect to break every record for distance and endurance. I know we are bound for the Canadian wilderness, but no timber will stop us. We shall sail as long as the balloon has an ounce of lifting power, and take our chances of being found."

GAYNOR NAMED DIX

At Least That Is the Story Told by Edward M. Shepard.

New York, Oct. 26.—Edward M.
Shepard, speaking last night at Carnegie hall, said that if there was any dictation about the nomination of John
A. Dix at the Rochester convention, the dictator was Mayor Gaynor.

When Mr. Shepard said this he was replying to the statements which Colonel Roosevelt is making on the stump that Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany Hall, directed that Dix should be the nominee of the convention, and that because this instruction was carried out Mr. Dix was really the candidate of Tammany Hall and of Wall street interests, which the Republicans declare are this year allied with the Tammany organization. In the conference which was held in Rochester by the various county leaders Mr. Shepard was present and took a prominent part. Describing in his speech how, after Mr. Gaynor had refused to allow himself to be considered as a nominee, some confusion had arisen because of the several men who wished to secure the nomination, Mr.
Shepard said:

"In the midst of this situation there came a signal message from a man of the utmost prominence in this community. There came a message from Mayor Gaynor. (Loud cheers.) Now in this message the mayor gave strong advice to the convention to nominate Mr.
Dix, and let me tell you if there was any boss in control of that convention,
the most powerful of all the bosses
was Mayor Gaynor."

Barney Oldfield took only two heats to defeat Jack Johnson, the champion pugilist, in their five-mile auto race.
Oldfield literally ran away from his opponent and won by nearly a mile in four minutes and forty-four seconds.

VILLAGES BURIED IN THE MUD OF VESUVIUS

Further Details of Calamity In Southern Italy.

Rome, Oct. 26.—The towns chiefly damaged by the Vesuvian floods are Casamicciola, Lacciameno, Positano, Torre del Greco, Resina and Portici,
in the province of Naples, and Amalfi, Vietri, Mapori, Minori, Pontecagnano
and Cetara, province of Salerno.
There were victims everywhere. Thus far eighty dead have been recovered together with a countless number of injured. The total number of deaths is conservatively estimated at from 150 to 200. The streets in many places are buried under several feet of fluid mud. The swollen rivers have flooded enormous areas.

Details which are slowly arriving show that each afflicted town and village has its own tale of horror. A dozen were killed here and a score there. Houses and churches were razed. The loss in crops is incalculable. The sea off the Salerno coast is covered with wreckage, consisting of ruined houses, furniture, timbers, trees and carcasses of animals. The mud in the valleys below Mt. Pomeo is twenty feet deep.

When the minister of marine reached Ischia, the islanders mobbed him, eagerly clamoring for food and tents.
More soldiers will be sent there. The bulk of the inhabitants are showing the same helplessness that was manifested at the time of the Messina earthquake. They refuse to work and leave everything that is to be done to the soldiers. Many are still clinging to the housetops, where they fled to escape the first torrents of mud and water.

When his holiness learned of the disaster he exclaimed that the succesion of calamities in southern Italy was a token of divine wrath. All the faithful, he said, should join in invocing mercy.

Jury Awarded $700 Damages.

Cincinnati, Oct. 26.—The jury hearing the $10,000 damage suit of Mrs.
Mattie McDermott of Morrow, O., against Frank M. Couden, former cashier in the office of the United States surveyor of customs here, awarded her $700. The suit followed the killing of Mrs. McDermott's son, when Couden alleged McDermott was caught in Couden's chicken coop two years ago.

Modern Life Would Be Too Hard on the Nerves If It Were Not For Want Advertising

The pace of life has become tense.

Worries, disappointments, up-sets at home and office, losses, discouragements seem to multiply as daily life becomes more complex.

The property owner, who MUST have a steady income from rents or lose his property, is "racked" by the untimely defection of a tenant. Some classified advertising quickly retrieves his loss—and quiets his nerves!

The salary-earner unexpectedly loses his position—and his peace-of-mind. The strain would shortly
"break" something in his nervous system, if, once more,
want advertising did not find the better job—and restore him his mental equilibrium.

In every phase of the city's life, every day, the Want Ads play the part of the peace-maker. They SERVE you and me at some crisis in our lives—and keep the modern pace and tension from proving too fast and tight for US.

Truly, the Want Ads ARE FOR SERVICE!

THEY BOTH LEFT.

The eloquent after dinner speaker offered the toast, "Woman, without her, man is a savage." But the operator left out the punctuation marks and the proof reader let it pass. Then it read, "Woman without her man is a savage." And the eloquent after dinner speaker and the editor had to move to another town.

BARNARD MAKES MANY SPEECHES

Republican Candidate For Congress Addresses Many Meetings in New Castle in One Day.

TALKS TO FACTORY EMPLOYES

Plans an Extensive Campaign to be Waged All Over Henry County This Week.

Two very gratifying political meetings were held at noon Tuesday by Congressman William O. Barnard, who is a candidate for re-election, says the New Castle Courier. The first was held at the Maxwell-Briscoe automobile factory, where 200 men heard the speech of the congressional candidate. Another short address was delivered to about fifty employees of the Hoosier kitchen cabinet factory at the conclusion of the Maxwell-Briscoe meeting.

At the automobile factory Congressman Barnard talked tariff and the high cost of living. He argued that the tariff is not responsible for the advance in the necessities of life. He also cited the advantages to the automobile industry of America by the fifty per cent. duty on automobiles imported into this country as provided by the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

At the Hoosier factory Congressman Barnard talked along the same lines. He was given close attention at both places and was heartily applauded.

In the afternoon Judge Barnard, accompanied by George W. Williams, Republican nominee for representative, went to Mt. Summit, Springport and Mooreland to meet the voters.

Last night Judge Barnard spoke at Bloomsville, and he was assisted by M. L. Clawson of Indianapolis. The Lesantville band was there and so was the Maxwell-Briscoe glee club to furnish music.

Today Judge Barnard made a flying trip to Kennard and Shirley and will speak at Greensboro tonight. He will be accompanied to Greensboro by Judge Forkner, who will also make a speech.

DECIDE NOT TO PUSH IT.

Mayor Mendenhall of Greensburg has decided not to push a libel suit against the Rev. W. G. Johnson, pastor of the Christian church. Rev. Johnson denounced him as a "tool of the liquor" interests. The pastor when he heard of the decision not to press the threatened suit said, "The mayor's better judgment has prevailed. Too many blind alleys would be opened to the public view, too many dark places illuminated."

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN IDAHO

Mrs. Martha Meeks Cassins, Once Living in Anderson Township, Succumbs in Western City.

DAUGHTER LIVES IN MILROY

Mrs. Wilson Mercer of Milroy yesterday received word of the death of her mother, Mrs. Martha Meeks Cassins, which occurred at the home of her husband, Henry Cassins, at Soldier, Idaho, Monday afternoon. The word came as a shock to friends as she had been in her ordinary good health, the death messenger coming suddenly and without warning. The deceased was past sixty-two years of age and was born in Decatur county, near Springhill, a daughter of the late Thomas Meek. She was a half sister to Mrs. John Dille of Greensburg, and the mother of Mrs. Ada Kirby of Adams and Mrs. Wilson Mercer of Milroy.

The remains were shipped from Idaho yesterday and with proper connections will probably arrive at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mercer, of Milroy, some time Saturday.

The remains will be interred in Springhill cemetery, but on account of the uncertainty of travel, the time can not be fixed at present, but will probably be on Sunday next.

FATHER REMAINS LOYAL TO HIS SON

William Reynolds Says That His Son Blaine, the Lewisville Terror, Did Not Assault Him.

MUCH SYMPATHY FOR FAMILY

William Reynolds of Lewisville has asked the New Castle Courier that a statement to the effect that his son had assaulted him with a chair, contained in a recently published account of an escapade by the young man, be corrected averring that his son did not, at the time stated, nor ever before or since, assault him in any manner or with any sort of weapon. Mr. Reynolds was positive in his statements and, while not seeking to defend the wayward conduct of his son in general, he expressed himself as deeply humiliated by the reported assault on his person.

Mr. Reynolds is a good citizen; he and his family, except the son, are highly respected in the community of Lewisville and have the active sympathy of their many friends in the deep trouble that has come upon them. The Courier, while mindful of its duty to the public, would not add an iota to their distress, but would lighten their burden instead. Space is therefore freely given to Mr. Reynolds' protest.

TAKES CHLOROFORM.

Because Miss Hazey Hogwood of New Castle did not reciprocate his love, Max Vanbarger of Troy, O., took chloroform Tuesday morning. Attending physicians believe that he will recover.

"ONE" AS A PRONOUN.

"I have never been smitten with the use of the word 'one' as a pronoun. It takes a word juggler to attempt it and get away with it. Unless one feels that one has won one's spurs in this respect and can extricate oneself from the mess one gets oneself and one's readers into, one should avoid the use of the word 'one' in referring to oneself as one would a plague"—The Idler.
